

Lumi Asian Fusion

is a restaurant located at North Haven in Connecticut. The business owner wants to replace their current website with new web design. The new website will have five main pages: home, menu, events, reservations and contact. Home page will have a short introduction about the restaurant. Menu page will have all the items on their menu. Events page will show the upcoming events at Lumi. On the reservations page, there will be an online reservation form. Contact page will have information about location/direction, hours and links to Lumi's social media pages. The theme color will be red since red is Lumi's logo color. The final website will be responsive on different screen sizes.
